

Let's Finish It Right

Canadians finish what they start. From the First of July, 1867, to the Fourteenth of August, 1914, we have not failed or faltered in any great undertaking.

Now we face the finish of what we undertook when we went to war. Victory came on the 11th of last November. But the finish does not come until we pay the cost of the preparation for that victory.

We will pay and finish the job. There is no doubt of that. Only, we must finish it right. The cost of Victory is to be paid by the sale of Victory Bonds. These bonds will be bought either by the people or by the banks. If we let the banks buy them, we won't be finishing the job right. We will be shirking a responsibility. We will be doing great harm to the business of the country, hazarding our future prosperity.

This is a cold fact which we must face. It is a fact which, once appreciated by the million and a half Canadians who subscribed to the Victory Loan 1918, will make the Victory Loan 1919 the greatest success yet.

So let us forget high taxes, high prices, as our boys at Vimy Ridge, Courcellette, Hill 60 and St. Julien forgot their suffering and remembered only their great purpose.

HUGE SMOKER TO-NIGHT FOR ALL ARTS MEN

An Excellent Programme Is Planned

IN UNION AT 8.15.

Music, Songs, Smokes and Eats To Suit All Tastes.

The second big social event for McGill men is to take place this evening in the Union, when the Arts Undergrad Society is going to hold its annual smoker. This smoker has always been one of the biggest stag affairs of the season since the beginning of time, and, this year, it is going to be bigger than ever.

For the past ten days, the committee have been hard at work making arrangements for the evening, and their efforts have resulted in what plans to be one continuous round of pleasure for the Arts men. They have secured the services of the college Mandolin Club for the evening, and their performance of past years is all the endorsement that they need to bring out a crowd. Several other musical items are booked for the evening, among which are comic monologue artists and soloists. Then there will be boxing bouts between men that are snappy and well-matched; one of these bouts is to be McCullough vs. Kanisberg. These two men were matched at the Union smoker last year, which was one of the biggest smokers held in the city last winter, and these boxers, on that occasion, gave the best amateur bout of the evening. They have both improved since then. Wrestling is to be another feature of the evening, between two old hands at the game. "Doc" Ware, one of the best card-trick experts in the city, has promised to come up and give a few of his old bafflers, in which "the quickness of the hand deceives the eye." An impromptu Jazz Band is going to do its best to "raise the roof" after the fashion of all the other musical fanatics of that type. Various other items are to complete the programme, and they are all of the high calibre of the numbers mentioned. It's going to be a "big night" for all Arts men, without a doubt.

Dean Moyne will give a short address. Dr. Walter will also speak. Both of these speakers are among the most entertaining smoker and after-dinner speech-makers to be found hereabout. There are to be "smokes" in abundance.

FREE TICKETS FOR WITHROW'S LECT.

Apply At Strathcona Hall Between 12 a.m. and 6.00 p.m.

This evening will be the first of a series of lectures by Dr. O. C. J. Withrow, of Toronto, which, judging from the way in which his lecture, "Fit to Fight," was received last year, will be most enthusiastically received by the student body. The lecture will be on the film, "Fit to Fight," and will commence at eight o'clock sharp, in the hall of the Central Y.M.C.A., Drummond Street.

Due to the fact that the lectures start this evening, tickets may be had, FREE, by applying at the desk, Strathcona Hall, between the hours of twelve and six. Take this opportunity to get your tickets, as no man will be admitted who has not got a ticket.

Thursday evening, the film, "How Life Begins," will be shown, when the lecture will begin at 8.15. The programme for Friday and Saturday evenings will be announced in a subsequent issue, but the committee in charge guarantee us an interesting programme such as is characteristic of Dr. Withrow's splendid handling of his subject.

This evening a special invitation is extended to first year men, and to all those who were unable to see the film last year. Therefore, we would urge that you get your tickets this afternoon, 12-6 p.m., at Strathcona Hall.

HARRIER RUN WILL BE HELD AT 4.30 P.M.

Respective Faculties Have Entered Strong Teams.

ARTS REPRESENTED.

Those Who By Participating Miss Lectures Will Be Granted Attendance.

The annual Inter-Faculty Harrier Run will be held this afternoon at 4.30 sharp from the Stadium. Interest in this event has become keener every day, and a close and exciting contest is looked for. Well over thirty men have turned out at the practices, and it is expected that everyone will start on the run this afternoon.

From present indications, it looks as if the Arts team will be the one to watch out for. Antliff, Egg and Desbarats have been coming in regularly among the first five finishers in the preliminaries and are counting on running true to form to-day. In addition, there are any number of capable substitutes who may surprise the three speed-artists, and the team is strong all round. Science, however, are not a bit behind Arts when it comes to confidence, and are firmly convinced that MacNider, Legg, Douglas, J. C. Antliff, Bain and numerous others of similar calibre will be quite good enough to out-score anything Arts can produce. The Medical team is problematical, but although weak at the practices they appear on paper to have the best team of the three. Led by Hamilton, the sensation of the intercollegiate track meet, and backed up by Hall, Skinner and Bouches, a former three-mile champion, they are certainly going to make the other teams hustle to come out on top. In addition to the three regular teams, it is expected that representatives will be present from Law, the Staff and possibly Macdonald, so that the competition will certainly be fast and furious.

The rules of the contest are very much the same as those of the intercollegiate run, with the exception that no limit is placed on the number of entries allowed. It is only the first four finishers in a faculty, however, who count toward the team score, and the faculty scoring the least number of points on a basis of one point for first, two for second, etc., shall be considered the winner. According to this method, for example, if the runners in a faculty came in 2nd, 4th, 5th, 9th, 16th and 21st, their score would count as 29, and would defeat a faculty finishing 1st, 3rd, 13th, 17th and 20th.

A TRIBUTE TO MCGILL FROM PARIS

Medal Received From the University Of Paris.

MCGILL HONORED.

Now On Exhibition At the Redpath Library.

An interesting and significant incident, showing how the varied institutions of the Allied Nations have been drawn together by the great war, is the presentation of a medal which has just been made to McGill University by the authorities of the University of Paris. A copy of this medal has been sent by the University of Paris to each of the universities of the Allied Nations.

The University of Paris, being, with the single exception of the University of Bologna, the oldest university in Europe, is, as it were, the mother of European learning, and which the new universities regard as one of the great centres from which, in the time of the revival of learning, the torch of learning was handed on to the remote corners of the Continent of Europe, and from thence to all the civilized world.

Now, in return, this ancient university makes acknowledgment of, the gratitude of France to her younger university sisters of the Allied Nations for their services to France "by Book and Sword" in the great war.

The medal is a large one, cast in bronze and of exquisite workmanship—an example of the high artistic standard which characterizes French Art. In the accompanying letter, the Rector of the University of Paris, speaking for that university, says:

"Il lui est particulièrement agréable de rendre ainsi hommage aux Universités du Canada dont les professeurs et étudiants ont si grandement contribué au triomphe de notre cause commune; nous vous prions de considérer cette médaille comme un témoignage d'une amitié désormais indestructible."

The medal shows a seated female figure holding a sword in one hand and a book in the other, and bears the inscription:

Scientia Instrumentum Justitiae
Libre Ense
MCMXIV - MCMXVIII
Knowledge the Instrument of Justice
By Book and Sword
1914 - 1918.

ONLY 10 NOW FOR INFORMAL DANCE

Other Tickets All Sold—Dancing At 8.00 Sharp.

Up to the time of going to press, only ten tickets remained for the informal dance on Friday evening. Originally it was decided to allow only 150 couples into the hall, but owing to the number of men who were disappointed the committee decided to secure another orchestra and open the lounging room for dancing. Accordingly, another 75 tickets were put on sale yesterday morning, and last night only ten remained.

The music in the ballroom will be supplied by the Westmount Jazz Band, which will consist of a piano, violin, saxophone, cello and drums. Miss Cleary, the popular pianist, will be at the piano downstairs.

The refreshments will be served in the dining room and in the grill. At 9.45 p.m. those in the lounging room will go down for supper, and at 10.15 the second tables will be ready. In order that there may be no confusion in the order of dances, two supper extras will be played, so that both floors will begin the second part of the programme together.

The programme will consist of fourteen dances and two extras, and will begin at 8.00 p.m., in order that there may be no rush in an endeavor to get through by midnight. Everyone intending to go is asked to bear in mind the hour, and to be there on time.

EVERY STUDENT IS WANTED.

To-night at 5.30 the semi-annual meeting of the Students' Society will be held in the Union Hall. It had been intended to hold this meeting at an earlier hour during the day but owing to the fact that the University authorities would not cancel lectures it was postponed.

The Students' Council is the only recognized medium between the University and the student, and it is this executive which has the control of most student affairs. To-night every student will have an opportunity to come and see what has been done by the men whom he has elected to look after his affairs. Become interested in college doings and show it by turning up at 5.30 to-night.

A Graduate's Confessions

However, let me tell you the story of Schwartz, Rabinovitch and Weinstein. It is a tale which does not bring myself nor my fellow-conspirator much credit, but then, what are confessions for?

Yes, it was a mean, low-down sort of attempt, and yet—oh, but there were some funny moments in it.

It started this way. The president of the "Daily"—no, not the present one but another—and I were seated in the office, longing for news and getting it not. The whole college seemed sunk in quiescence, and absolutely nothing worth printing was going on.

"—old chap," I began (that dash stands for his name, not a swear-word, although I may have cursed a bit, and probably did), "this is awful. We must stir up the place."

"What can we do? Burn down the Union?" he suggested, hopefully.

"Phone up the Arts building, and enquire if the report is true that Asiatic cholera has broken out in the R.V.C. That'll start them talking, and we may get a story out of it," was my contribution. But it was disclaimed.

"Ah, the R.V.C.," exclaimed my companion, and I saw his eye light up. "Let's phone up somebody at the R.V.C."

"Yes; let's," I answered. "Suppose you do the phoning."

The craven needed ten minutes' argument to convince him that it was necessary for him to do the talking, but finally consented.

"What'll we say, now?" was the next question. A moment sufficed to provide the answer. We both shouted "O—!" at once.

So it was agreed that we should phone by proxy to the Royal Victoria College—we didn't think it necessary to inform him of our plans—and make an appointment with a Miss Dash, on business about the Annual. Then I would phone his home when he was absent and make a similar appointment with him. Thus did we plot to cause for poor O— (I remember the case of the poor Med's sister, which we'll deal with later and cherished a grudge against him) a painful situation, for, of course, at the appointed hour we intended to be on hand.

I didn't consider at the time, the fact that we could also be causing the unfortunate young lady much embarrassment, and dragging her into an affair of which she had no knowledge. But, then, I hadn't reached years of discretion.

Well, my friend took down the receiver. "Uptown 1979," he said in honeyed tones, and I knew at once which operator had answered. "Hello, is that the Royal Victoria College? Could I speak to Miss Dash?"

Then a terrible look came into his face, and placing his hand over the transmitter he turned to me and gasped, "which Miss Dash? Quick! There must be two of them."

"Miss B. Dash," I answered. Luckily I remembered the name.

"She isn't in," he said, sadly, a moment later, banging down the receiver. "Call up again and leave your message," I urged.

He did so. Thus far, our plot went well. The attendant took our message without any apparent suspicion.

Then came my turn. This was even easier. O— was out and his relatives agreed to tell him of the appointment when he entered.

We parted for the day, chuckling over our success. But the morning brought reflection, and revealed to us the weak point in our scheme. Was it not exceedingly likely that one of the parties interested should, with the object of gaining further information concerning the mysterious appointment, phone the other and so ruin all our work? We finally decided not to stay for the meeting, but to wait until Monday (the plan was hatched on a Friday) and see what would develop.

Well, it was Sunday evening before anything happened. Then, as I was sitting in the "Daily" office, the phone rang furiously. I detached the receiver and forthwith heard the voice of O—.

"Is — there?" he enquired, naming the president.

Now, fortunately, we had considered the possibility of this very thing happening, so I was quite glib with my answer.

"No," was the reply. "I haven't seen him since Friday (which was a lie, alas; but then you can't make an omelette without breaking eggs), and I think he's been pretty sick, for he hasn't been around at all. Have you seen him?"

"No-o-o," he replied. "No, I was wondering. Say, did you phone me on Friday evening?"

Here it was with a vengeance! "I!" I exclaimed, putting all the amazement I could into my voice. "I phone you?"

This, I am thankful to say, saved me from blackening my character by yet another untruth.

O— explained that he had imagined we were playing a joke on him, promised to be on hand shortly, and rang off.

When he arrived, he drew me aside. "Someone," he said, "has been trying a foolish sort of joke on me. It was like this"—and he proceeded to tell of how the young lady in the case had telephoned him and they had decided that it was all a silly practical joke.

He even told me the lady's name. Eagerly did I promise to help him in the search for the miscreants who had attempted this infamy. Together we seized a calendar, and from it made out that there were three students of the name mentioned, any one of which might be the right one. I assured O— that all my detective instincts were aroused by his story, and that it would give me the keenest of pleasure to track to its end the clue he had given me.

The phone bell rang just then, and I hastened to answer it. The well-known voice of —, my fellow-criminal spoke. "Is O— there?" were his first words. Realizing that here was the time for some finesse, I answered loudly, "Yes, we're getting along finely, thanks, and O— is here helping me. Oh, by the way, —" I went on, as I felt an eye burning into the back of my head, "he wants to know if you phoned him on Friday."

Now, as you will remember, it was I who gave that particular message, so — was quite right in crying "No!" This answer I hastened to report to O—, and was relieved to see the light of suspicion die out in his eyes.

For a few days thereafter we "lay low," hiding our time to strike the next blow in our campaign. Meanwhile, I at various times discovered further "clues" to the perpetrators of the crime, and reported them to O—, but he didn't seem impressed.

Then the time came for — to ring up Miss Dash again. This time the young lady was in, and poor O— was in for it. However, we had all our "facts" written on a slip of paper before his eyes, so he went ahead bravely.

"Hello, is that Miss Dash?" he said. "This is Schwartz, Rabinovitch and Weinstein, solicitors for the — Annual. Your name, Miss Dash, was given us by Mr. — (naming a friend of ours in Medicine) and we have called to ask you if you can undertake to secure subscriptions among the R.V.C. students? Gosh!" he broke off, sotto voce, and then listened intently. Then he turned to me, his face aglow. "Swallowed it all; hook, bait and sinker," he cried. "She's going off to get Miss —, who's connected, she says, with the Annual!"

Here, I regret to say, is where I fell into a most despicable panic, and so spoilt an interesting development of our plot. You see, I understood — to say that Miss Dash was already at the phone, and at the vision of still another person being involved in the ramifications of this exceedingly tangled skein, which would involve a further set of—well, prevarications, my heart failed me.

"Ring off! Ring off!" I cried, throwing caution to the winds. Snap! went the receiver on the hook, and we were left staring at each other.

"Why?" was the question that formed itself on my companion's lips. But I forestalled it.

"I know this Miss —, and we couldn't pull any wool over her eyes; we'd just have been all messed up in no time," I explained.

"Well, what'll we do now?" Oh, but wasn't it funny, though! If you'd heard her? and — chuckled again and again.

That night the next step was taken in our evil conspiracy. I persuaded a friend to write for me on a sheet of note-paper a joke of the type known as "Who's," the handwriting, I may state here, was not masculine.

Armed with this, I entered the "Daily" office, and was pleased to see O— there at his post.

"R.V.C. Notes come over yet?" I enquired, carelessly.

"No," was the reply. "L— is just going for them."

Here was my chance. As L— passed through the Union lobby upstairs, I was waiting for him. In my hand was a "Daily" envelope, exactly similar to the one in which the R.V.C. Notes arrived each night. In the envelope was the "Who" we had prepared, and on the corner of it was the signature of one of the R.V.C. editors. Once more, readers, I fear I must nauseate you with the confession of a loathsome crime. That signature was a forgery—not a very good one, I must admit, but calculated to deceive a casual observer. L— was to transfer the R.V.C. Notes from their original envelope to this one, and then seal it up. If questioned as to whether he had seen the "Who," he might safely swear he had not.

"Well, the plot worked admirably, from our point of view. The fatal envelope was handed to O—, while I was busily engaged in a corner of the office. He opened it without more than the most cursory glance at the signature on it.

Then he started ruffling the leaves within, making comments on their contents as he did so.

Suddenly there fell a silence. I knew what that meant, and was not fool enough to continue my work. I looked up.

O— came over to me without a word. "Look at that!" he said, and laid the "Who" before me. I might here say that this "Who" was concocted with great care, so as to arouse all kinds of vague suspicions.

Loud were my cries of horror and sympathy at the sight of what female wits had attempted against my poor friend. Immediately I offered, with this writing as a clue, to discover the author, and produced my budget of chirography, gathered during several years, after a great deal of trouble.

It was in vain, however, that I pointed out resemblances to this writing or the other. O— refused to see them, and perhaps it was just as well. He folded the joke away in his pocketbook for future reference. Perhaps he carries it yet.

Two days later there was a conversation, at which, in all likelihood, our Miss Dash would be present. It was agreed between my fellow-conspirator and myself that I should have a conversation with her, from which I could judge what her suspicions were as to the real meaning and purpose of Schwartz, Rabinovitch and Weinstein, solicitors for the Annual.

I went to that conversat. Miss Dash was there. I had my talk with her, and delicately at first, then more directly, broached the subject, without result. Then I openly mentioned the name of our firm—the lady's looks were as blank as she must have thought my brain. When the bell rang for "Time," I was, metaphorically speaking, hanging on to save a knock-out.

The only conclusion that I could reach was that we had phoned the wrong Miss Dash. Anyway, it was for us a marvelous mystery, and has been ever since, just how and where things got mixed up.

There you have the tale of crime,—a black enough record, you will say. But there is worse to come.

McGILL JUNIORS PLAY MACDONALD TO-DAY
Last Game of Section.

The McGill Junior squad is journeying out to Macdonald to-day for the final game of their section.

Although Macdonald was defeated last game, it was only on account of their inexperience in the game. Since then they have played several games, and as they are heavy and made of good stuff, a stiff fight is expected from them.

Our Junior squad has played three games, only one score being made against them in the first game. By defeating Loyola twice, 6-1 and 13-0, and Macdonald 11-0, they became head of their section in the Q.R.F.U., and play off on the 15th with Westmount.

HARRIER RUN WILL BE HELD AT 4.30 P.M.

For the benefit of those men who are unaware of the fact, it may be stated that arrangements have been made with the different faculties to allow all harriers credit for lectures missed after 4 p.m. The only condition is that those affected must hand in their names to the janitor of either the Arts, Science or new Medical building before 10 in the morning. As a result of this ruling, there is no excuse for not being on deck, and we want to see everyone out who has attended any of the practices during the session.

Spectators who are unable to get up in time for the start at 4.30, can have an opportunity of witnessing the finish on the track at approximately five o'clock.

MACDONALD NEWS

OUR NATURAL ENVIRONMENT

When the rugged Aggie, the hard-working teacher, or the industrious home-maker was reluctantly summoned from slumber by the melodious ringing of the rising bell yesterday morning, the outlook that greeted their eyes as they gazed from their various windows drew forth many an expression of surprise. However, the appearance of old Father Winter's first really apparent touch usually comes at this time, if not earlier in the season, and the first snow has only followed an autumn of unusual beauty.

Macdonald is certainly a paradise for the lover of Nature and all its beauties, and seldom, if ever, will we find scenes of more beauty than those surrounding our college. When we came to Macdonald this fall we found all the foliage dressed in the green that precedes the first tinge of autumn. Gradually this changed to yellow-green interspersed here and there with the scarlets of the maple, the red-brown of the oak, and the rich deep hues of the evergreen. Not only did we have the coloring of the trees, but also we have had the glories of the Ottawa, the St. Lawrence and the Lake of the Two Mountains, with their placid, glassy surfaces on the hazy days of Indian summer, or their white-capped waves as they are ruffled by the squalls of typical autumn days. Across the river lie the hills of Isle Perrot, and as we go toward the "Back River" we can view from the rise by Lady Clouston's the lofty hills of the mainland.

The last few days have worked still another transformation scene, and the wind has taken a heavy toll of the remaining leaves. The lawns, roads and campus were everywhere strewn with leaves. However, the trees in their bareness still seem to lend beauty to our sunsets, and the silhouette effect is wonderful. This year there seems, too, to have been a wealth of days when the clear blue of the sky is broken only by odd scudding rifts, and when each day is ushered in by the warm sun rising from Lake St. Louis to cheer up the cold snappiness of late fall mornings.

It is the realization, however, of these beauties that counts, and the student who cannot feel that it is certainly good "to live in such surroundings as we do, has certainly lost much of the value of coming to Macdonald. It is the student who goes out to his or her life work with a fuller appreciation of the beauties of the place in which he or she has been educated, who is going to make the biggest success of life.

MAKING IT EASY FOR HIMSELF.

Mrs. Killifer desired that the picture be hung to the right of the door. Mr. Killifer wanted it hung to the left. For once the husband proved to be the more insistent of the two, and Henry, the colored man, was summoned to hang the picture according to Mr. Killifer's order.

Henry drove in a nail on the left. This done, he also drove one in the wall to the right.

"Why are you driving that second nail?" asked Mr. Killifer.

"Why, boss, dat's to save me de trouble of bringin' de ladder to-morrow when you come round to de missus' way of thinkin'," said Henry. —Harper's.

VICTORY LOAN SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The Faculty teams have been agreeably surprised at the reception tendered them by the students and members of the Faculty approached by them for subscriptions. Victory Bonds, nearly all in small denominations, have been bought by the students, and some larger amounts subscribed by members of the staff.

The team from the Law Faculty leads with the largest returns, while the other three faculties are only separated by small amounts.

The subscriptions to date:

|----------|-------------|
| Law      | $8,800.00  |
| Arts     | 1,700.00    |
| Science  | 1,500.00    |
| Medicine | 1,100.00    |
| Total    | $11,100.00 |

EMBRYONIC JURISTS TO BATTLE FOR FOOTBALL SUPREMACY.

Doubtless all activities in the Faculty of Law will be suspended this afternoon. The Freshmen will battle with the Senior years in the annual football game. The match takes place at 3:30 p.m. at the McGill Stadium, and should prove very interesting and exciting.

As a result of the untiring efforts of McCaffery and Robertson, the men from the second and third years are in fine condition and should play a great match.

The Senior years are confident of victory, but the Freshmen also expect to win, and claim that nothing will stop them.

SELECTION OF SENIOR PLAY TO BE MADE

Dr. Macmillan Gives Experiences of Former Plays.

TWO PERFORMANCES.

Play May Be Presented In Other Canadian Cities.

Yesterday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock the Senior Play Committee held its first meeting in the R.V.C. Taylor, of Arts '20, was in the chair, and the other members present were Misses J. Macnaughton, H. Davidson, G. Ewing, and I. E. Scott, of the R.V.C., and C. B. Evans and J. N. Petersen, of Arts '20. Dr. C. Macmillan, of the Department of English, was also present, and gave excellent advice from experience to those who will be in charge. He mentioned how this project is an excellent means of acquainting the students with the working methods in use at present on the stage, and also that it gives the student a better knowledge and appreciation of the drama.

Dr. Macmillan has had much experience in amateur theatricals, and has always taken a keen interest in the Senior Plays, which have been presented at McGill. He, in collaboration with Mrs. W. Vaughan, has on many occasions acted as adviser and coach for the cast.

The last Senior Play to be staged at McGill was held in 1916. "Trelawney of the Wells," by Sir Arthur Pinero, was acted for two nights before a very appreciative audience. On the first night it was presented to the students and their friends, while on the second the graduates witnessed the performance. The proceeds were handed to the Patriotic Fund.

The following officers were elected to handle the business and stage arrangements arising out of the play: Business managers, Miss Douglas and J. N. Petersen, with an assistant to be appointed later. Stage managers, Miss Mawdsley and one other to be appointed. The play will be chosen, as soon as possible. Dr. Macmillan has consented to select several plays, from which that to be presented will be chosen.

Though no definite plans nor arrangements have been made as yet, it is entirely possible that not only will two performances be given, but also that the play will be presented in several cities in the Dominion. Previous to the war, plans were nearly formulated whereby McGill was to present their play at Kingston, while Queen's were to reciprocate.

The performance will very likely take place some time during the first two weeks of February.

THREE TEAMS PLAYING THIS WEEK

The football season is now in full swing, this week alone the different McGill teams have three games to play. To-day, the Junior team goes to St. Anne's to meet the Macdonald men, and on Saturday the much advertised game with Queen's will take place, and the intermediates will play R.M.C. This last game ought to prove by far the most interesting of the three, for the teams will be very evenly matched, especially as the visiting men will have the fatigue of travel as a drawback. However, well founded rumors are afoot that a valuable player is being taken from the second team to become spare to the first. If such is the case, the intermediates will be severely handicapped, and their chances of winning on Saturday will be decreased in a corresponding degree. This seems a shame, but the move is, without doubt, caused by the casualties of last Saturday's game. The game, however, will be well worth seeing, and there ought to be a large number on the side lines to supply the needed encouragement to the McGill squad.

Speaking of casualties, everyone will be delighted to know that "Monty" was out yesterday, and is apparently none the worse for his mishap on Saturday, and that while it is expected that Flanagan is out of the game for the season, Ambrose will be on hand for the Varsity match.

The slush on the field yesterday made the practice somewhat disagreeable to the men out, and a short workout was held by all three squads, no practice game being played at all. The first team practised passing and signals, with "Norm" Wallace as quarterback, while the second worked on the kicks and signals. "Shag" worked with the second team for a short time, and if he can keep this up, the intermediates will have a much better chance of winning on Saturday, for their plays need finishing up and "perfecting" to make them as formidable as they might be.

R. V. C. 23.

There will be a basketball practice at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. All members of the class who are interested please turn out, whether or not you know how to play.

NOTICES

B. W. AND F. CLUB.
Boxing will be held this afternoon in Union. Members will dress in the old B. W. and F. room in the basement. Rubber soled shoes must be worn. Practice starts at 5:15 sharp.

BAND PRACTICE.
Bandmen, remember the practice to-night at 7:15 in the Union. The music for the college songs will be ready, and a good practice is necessary.

Turn up sharp on time and we will be through early.

MANDOLIN CLUB.
The Mandolin Club will make their first appearance of the season at the Arts Undergraduate Smoker to be held in the Union this evening. The Executive desires to see as many members present as possible. Bring your instrument and meet in the Union at 8:40 sharp. Don't forget to bring this Fall's music and let all who have copies of the music used last Spring bring it also, especially the book containing "Till We Meet Again."

FOUND.
Will the player of the Sci. Rugby team who lost his Service Button at the Kingston Dance Hall, two weeks ago please communicate with M. Simon, Dent. '23. Phone St. Louis 4420.

THEATRE PARTY.
Arts 20-21.
All members of the Junior and Senior years desiring to attend the Theatre Party on Thursday, November 13th, at the "Princess," must hand in their names and money to the following men, before Monday night, Nov. 10th:—Representatives from the Seniors, Townshend and Martin; from the Juniors, Hebert and Reford. Tickets for theatre and supper, -1.50.

MED. UNDERGRADS.
Any undergraduate in Medicine desiring to subscribe to the Victory Loan are asked to inform their Class Presidents or else report direct to the McGill Loan H.Q.S. in the Union at 5 p.m. any week-day until Nov. 15, and give their subscription direct to J. L. O'Brien who will credit the Faculty team with their subscriptions. Class Presidents are to report any subscriptions received to the Team Captain at the Union at 5 p.m. any week-day. Blank forms may be obtained at the Loan H.Q.S., and all information regarding the Loan. All Class Presidents are asked to report on Thursday, Nov. 6, at the Union at 5 p.m.

ATTENTION TO HARRIERS.
All men turning out for the Harriers must hand their names in. Those who are in Science, to the Janitor of the Science Building; those in Arts, to the Janitor of the Arts Building; and those in Medicine, to the Janitor of the Medical Building. Men who neglect to hand in their names will not be excused from lectures, so make sure your name is given to the Janitor if you purpose turning out.

TICKETS FOR LECTURES.
Tickets for Dr. Withrow's lectures will be given out in Strathcona Hall to-day between the hours of 12:00 and 6:00. The first lecture will be given to-night at 8 p.m., and the film "Fit to Fight" will be shown. Secure your ticket for this and the other lectures this afternoon and avoid disappointment.

AMERICAN CLUB.
A short meeting of the Executive and Social Committees of this Club will be held in the Common Room of the Union on Thursday, Nov. 6th, at 1:00 p.m.

ELECTRICAL CLUB.
A re-organization meeting of the Electrical Club will be held to-day at 5:15 in Room 53 of the Engineering Building.

SCIENCE JUNIORS PHOTO.
The Class photograph of 3rd year Science will be taken at 10:55 a.m. Friday, the 7th November, on the steps of the Chemistry Building.

ARTS AND LAW VS. MEDS.
The combined teams of Arts and Law will play the team from Medicine to-day at 2 o'clock. It is unfortunate that the Junior schedule interferes with this match, and the teams will have to play somewhat short handed. The Arts and Law men will be especially handicapped because of this. It is therefore urged that all players should be "on hand" without fail at the Stadium, in order that the game may not go by default.

POLITICAL ECONOMY CLUB.
In the write up on the Political Economy Club in yesterday's "Daily," it was stated that any student interested in Economics was eligible for membership. This statement was made in error, as under the constitution finally adopted, membership is limited to graduates, undergraduates or partial students taking a course in Economics or Political Science in the University.

R.V.C. NOTES

DELTA SIGMA SOCIETY.
All are invited to the lecture by Dr. Macmillan at 3 o'clock in the Common Room, and to the tea which follows. To-day from 3 to 5, at R.V.C.
All those attending the lecture are requested to please be in their places promptly by 3 o'clock, in order to give Dr. Macmillan a fitting welcome.

LARGE NUMBER OF WRESTLERS AT PRACTICE

Much Speed Shown—Number Of Heavyweights Out.

MR. SMITH LECTURES.

Short Wrestling Practices Held—Review Of Old Work Held.

Yesterday afternoon, at 5:15, about thirty would-be wrestlers were busily engaged in donning their trunks, jerseys and sleepers. The first piece of work to be carried out was to carry the heavy two-inch mat from the basement to the top floor. To do this, twelve likely looking men were selected, and they finished this small task in record time.

After calling the roll, Mr. Smith proceeded to put the fellows through the hand wrestling exercises which had been practised at the meet last Thursday. After a few minutes at this work, the instructor noticed that some of the men were breathing hard, and, following his custom of previous years, called a halt and gave a lecture on the conservation of energy. His remarks on this subject are of interest not only to the wrestlers but to students in all branches of athletics. The point which Mr. Smith sought to impress was the necessity of breathing slow and deep, so as to use the lungs for the purpose for which they were made, viz., to supply oxygen to remove the worn-out tissues of the body.

Following this lecture, work was resumed, and the wrestlers had a practice at weight lifting. The men humpered off, and the odd numbers took one pace forward and faced the even numbers, who, for the first few minutes, took the place of weights. To give everybody a good practice, positions were reversed, and the odd numbers had a rest for the time being.

About six o'clock, the men gathered about the mat and each pair in turn indulged in a forty-second bout, which, by the way, seemed more like two minutes. Much speed was shown in these short bouts, and from all evidences it appears that there is a very good future for the club. Nothing definite can be said about any of the members, because many who after a few workouts may get into practice and good condition are not able to do good work as yet.

At half-past six all the men went downstairs to take their showers before leaving. The next practice will be held on Thursday at 5:15, and all members are asked to be upstairs on time, so that the practice will not be delayed.

POLO GAME TO-NIGHT.

The McGill Polo team will play their first game to-night against Maisonneuve. The game will be held in the Y.M.C.A. tank, at 8:00 p.m., and only 25c will be charged for admittance. A good crowd of rooters are expected to turn out.

The McGill team held a short workout yesterday afternoon, when a practice game was played. Laidley showed up very well. He is a fast swimmer and has a very good shot, which should worry the Maisonneuve goal-keeper considerably. Winters also was doing some fast shooting.

The following men will be on hand at 8:00 p.m., at the Y.M.C.A. to-night: Winters, Laidley, Bastable, Schipell, Wiggs, Miller, Walters, Laidley and Patten.

These men are requested to bring their caps. The McGill team will probably line up as follows:
Goal—"Curly" Walters.
Defence—Wiggs, Gavin Miller.
Forwards—Bastable, Bob Winters, Laidley.

All these men played when the McGill team beat the National Intermediates two weeks ago. The score was then 13-1. Maisonneuve, however, are a much more difficult aggregation to beat, so those who turn out to-morrow will be rewarded by seeing a fast, hard-fought game. Everybody get behind the team and push them along by turning out and rooting.
